How could we stimulate and support definition and adaption of curricula for ophthalmic training worldwide?

How can we assure that ophthalmology residents learn the surgical skills and other competencies needed to provide quality patient care?

How important are accreditation of teaching programs and certification of ophthalmic personnel to improving education and clinical performance?

How could we use modern teaching methods and technology in the training of ophthalmology residents and subspecialists, medical students and allied ophthalmic personnel?

How can we make continuing education more effective?

How can we enlist others in refocusing ophthalmic education?

8:45 Summary and Closing Comments
Drs. Golnik, Qureshi and Mayorga
